

Group structures

Do you need just one company, or would it be better to have a group structure with a holding company and various subsidiaries?

Why would you do it? Well, one reason may be to put valuable assets into a non-trading (and therefore less risky) company at the top, with the trading carried out in subsidiary companies.

There are accounting, tax and legal issues to consider.

We can help guide you through the process.